A GLOBAL HOUSE PARTY AT CRANBROOK AND MILLESGÅRDEN

Thank you for joining us for our Global House Party and supporting Cranbrook Center for Collections and Research!

What is the Center? Founded ten years ago, the Center is responsible for stewarding—and sharing—the remarkable 117-year history of Cranbrook. We are the curatorial voice that is responsible for preserving the architecture of this National Historic Landmark campus; interpreting and opening to the public Cranbrook House, Saarinen House, and Smith House; rehabilitating the Japanese Garden; conserving the gates that mark the entrances, the chairs that define our dining halls, and the sculptures that grace our gardens; and, perhaps most important, documenting all of these stories for future generations in our archives.

We hope you will join us for our future events and programs, follow us on social media and read our blog, explore the rich collections of Cranbrook Archives, and come along on one of our tours of Saarinen House or the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Smith House. Whether you are joining us for the first time or already have a long history of involvement, the Center is your portal to Cranbrook's many wonders.

Eero Saarinen Knoll Womb™ Chair (Medium)

LIVE!
AUCTION

WOOL, VELVET, AND CHROME

35 INCHES WIDE, 31 INCHES DEEP, 31 INCHES HIGH

STARTING BID: $3,000 (WITH $250 BID INCREMENTS)

"I want a chair that is like a basket full of pillows...something I can curl up in."

– Florence Schust Knoll

This midcentury classic, designed by Eero Saarinen in 1946, supports countless positions and offers a comforting oasis of calm—hence the name. Uniquely upholstered in Knoll's textured Dapper wool fabric in Flare, with coordinating Oh La La velvet cushions in Crimson, this one-of-a-kind chair selected by Knoll for the Global House Party is accented with polished chrome legs.

Designer and architect Eero Saarinen was surrounded by design his entire life, from his native Finland to his teenage years at Cranbrook and later practice in Bloomfield Hills. Eero Saarinen met Florence Schust while she was a student at Cranbrook's Kingswood School for Girls and a promising young protégé of his father, Eliel. Florence spent all her free time with the Saarinen family, including summer vacations to Finland. Florence and Eero developed a brother-and-sister-like relationship that would last the rest of their lives. When Florence joined Knoll in the 1940s, it was an obvious choice for her to invite Eero to design for the company.

Over the next fifteen years, Saarinen designed many of the most recognizable Knoll furnishings that help define the midcentury modern aesthetic, including the Tulip Chairs and Pedestal Tables, the Womb™ Chair, and the 70 Series Executive Seating Collection.

The chair will be available for pickup after the auction at Cranbrook House; it may be shipped for an additional fee.

This item has been generously donated by Knoll, Inc.

JUNE THROUGH DECEMBER 2021*

ART BASEL MIAMI: DECEMBER 2-5, 2021

STARTING BID: $2,500 (WITH $250 BID INCREMENTS)

Experience the art and glamour of Miami Beach like an insider! You are invited to join Mitchell “Micky” Wolfson, Jr.—art collector, businessman, philanthropist, and world traveler—as he welcomes you to a behind-the-scenes tour of The Wolfsonian led by Curator Shoshana Resnikoff, a former Cranbrook Center Collections Fellow (2012-2014). In addition to your Curator-led tour of The Wolfsonian for up to ten guests, this package includes a one-year Wolfsonian Dual/Family-level Membership and ten invitations to The Wolfsonian’s Art Basel Miami Beach VIP Party.

Rooted in the greatest century of growth and change humanity has ever known—1850 to 1950—The Wolfsonian traces the odyssey from agrarian to urban, colonial empires to Cold War superpowers, the first spike of the Transcontinental Railroad to the advent of television. With more than 200,000 objects, the collection contains a vast universe of ideas: household appliances that sped the pace of work; designs that bridged cultures; architectural plans fueled by ambition; and propaganda that helped turn the tides of war. The museum’s core focus is material from Europe and the United States, extending to regions of Latin America, Asia, and Africa.

Adaptation Studio Loja Saarinen Rug Designed by Maja Andersson Wirde for the Kingswood Rose Room Lounge

LIVE!
AUCTION

HAND-KNOTTED
HAND-SPUN TIBETAN AND NEPALESE WOOL
APPROXIMATELY 7 FEET-5 INCHES BY 5 FEET-10 INCHES
STARTING BID: $10,000 (WITH $500 BID INCREMENTS)

Bring a piece of Cranbrook history into your living room with this remarkable rug! Weavers in Nepal will be skillfully adapting a 1931 design that Maja Andersson Wirde created for Studio Loja Saarinen for use in the Kingswood Rose Room Lounge. Loja Saarinen used this same pattern to create a nearly identical rug (in different colors) for Albert Kahn's 1934 Chrysler Showroom building in Detroit.

Maja Andersson Wirde, an accomplished Swedish weaver and textile designer associated with the Handarbetets Vänner in Stockholm, was asked by Loja Saarinen to come to Cranbrook in 1929 and oversee the operation of Studio Loja Saarinen, a commercial weaving workshop within the Cranbrook Arts and Crafts Studios. The Studio produced handwoven art fabrics, rugs, and window hangings, and much of the Studio's production was for Cranbrook's institutions, most notably Kingswood School for Girls.

The Center will be working closely with Edmond Hagopian and Suzanne Hagopian, grandchildren of Haroutun "Harry" Hagopian, who immigrated to Detroit in the 1920s and established a carpet cleaning business in 1939, to produce this handmade rug.

This quarter-size adaptation of the original rug will be approximately half of the rug's original dimensions. The rug is expected to be completed in the fall of 2021.

The original rug is in the Cultural Properties Collection, Kingswood School, and is one of the 10,000 objects stewarded by Cranbrook Center for Collections and Research.

This item has been generously produced and donated by Hagopian World of Rugs.

To discuss the production, design, and dimensions of the rug in advance of the auction, please contact Center Director Gregory Wittkopp at GWittkopp@cranbrook.edu or 248.645.3315.

When completed, the rug will be available for pickup at Cranbrook House; it may be shipped for an additional fee.

Pair of Carl Milles-designed Urns (Milles-krukan)

PORCELAIN

9-5/8 INCHES HIGH, 10-3/4 INCHES DIAMETER

SOLD DURING THE BUY-IT-NOW AUCTION PREVIEW

Bring the grace and beauty of Carl Milles' design work into your own home! These porcelain krukan, or urns, feature a relief pattern of winding flowers and were designed by Carl Milles in the 1920s. Carl and Olga Milles filled these pots with fresh cut flowers from their garden and placed them on stone tables in the gallery of their home, a space that was inspired by a trip the Milleses made to Pompeii in Italy. While the original pots remain on display at Millesgården, the Center is excited to offer these beautiful reproductions manufactured by Gustavsberg.

The urns are made in Stockholm by Gustavsberg (Gustavsbergs Porslinsfabrik) exclusively for Millesgården and are not available for retail in the United States. The vases are embossed on the bottom "Millesgården / Lidingo / Sweden" and stamped in ink "Gustavsberg / Made in Sweden."

The urns will be available for pickup after the auction at Cranbrook House; they may be shipped for an additional fee.

The urns have been generously donated by Beth and Michael Willoughby.

Tour and Garden Soiree at the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Turkel House

PALMER PARK, DETROIT, MICHIGAN

EIGHT GUESTS

JUNE THROUGH OCTOBER 2021*

STARTING BID: $1,500 (WITH $250 BID INCREMENTS)

Enjoy an exclusive, owner-led tour of Frank Lloyd Wright's Dorothy G. Turkel House in Detroit. After you tour this exquisite Usonian Automatic gem, enjoy champagne and canapés in the extensive garden. Discover the rich details of Wright's architecture, furniture, and engineering, and hear stories from the current owners of their painstaking restoration and modernization of the home.

Built when the architect was eighty-eight, this Palmer Woods home was designed for the parking-lot heiress Dorothy Turkel and her family. Constructed with handmade precast concrete blocks, the house is the only two-story example of what Wright called his "Usonian Automatic" construction system. The architect believed this innovative system could prove to be a cost-efficient and labor-saving way of building houses across the country, though only a handful were ever realized.

Swedish-made Kosta Boda Mirage Vase by Göran Wärff

BLUE AND AMBER LEAD-FREE CRYSTAL
7-7/8 INCHES HIGH

SOLD DURING THE BUY-IT-NOW AUCTION PREVIEW

Bring the beauty of Swedish glass into your home with this Göran Wärff original for Kosta Boda. The colors harmonize subtly with the soft form of the vase and suggest an unexpected meeting between glass and color. The play of light within the glass adds an extra dimension to the Mirage set.

Renowned glass artisan Göran Wärff has dedicated his career to preserving the traditional skills of master craftsman in glassblowing and glass cutting. The play of light within the clear volume of the glass and the endless optical phenomena that occur as the glass diffracts the light are a recurring theme in Göran Wärff's art and design work. Nature, and the play of light in nature, are his principle sources of inspiration.

Kosta Boda is a Swedish glassmaking company founded in 1742. In 1991, Kosta Boda merged with Orrefors, another Swedish art glass company formed in 1898 and the creator of some of Cranbrook's signature Saarinen-designed lighting fixtures.

The vase will be available for pickup after the auction at Cranbrook House; it may be shipped for an additional fee.

Pewabic Pottery Fantasy: Tour & Wine Reception at Stratton House

GROSSE POINTE PARK, MICHIGAN

FOUR GUESTS

JUNE THROUGH DECEMBER 2021*

AUCTION STARTING BID: $1,000 (WITH $250 BID INCREMENTS)

Step inside this magical, art-filled home and explore the lush gardens created by Pewabic Pottery co-founder Mary Chase Perry Stratton and architect William Buck Stratton in Grosse Pointe Park. Your exclusive tour, led by Cranbrook's own Kevin Adkisson, will cover the story of the house's design and construction, its later renovation by Alexander Girard, and the current owners' herculean efforts to preserve the home. The tour will also highlight significant works of art in the owners' collection by Cranbrook Academy of Art students and alumni. After the tour, enjoy a wine reception with your hosts in the garden.

Stratton House is a tour de force of ceramic tile. Designed in 1912 by Mary Chase Perry and her future husband, architect William Buck Stratton, the house was initially located close to her Pewabic Pottery in Detroit. In 1927, the newlyweds moved the house brick by brick and beam by beam to a larger site in nearby Grosse Pointe Park. Reassembled and expanded, the resulting home features custom Pewabic fireplaces, windowsills, radiators, bathroom tiles, and even ceramic sinks. The Pewabic installations complement a rich palette of hand-made building materials and a unique collection of imported architectural fragments grafted onto the house by the Strattons after travels through Europe in the 1920s.

A Rare Original 1902 Cranbrook Press Book: Utopia by Sir Thomas More

HAND PRINTED ON HANDMADE PAPER

SOLD DURING THE BUY-IT-NOW AUCTION PREVIEW

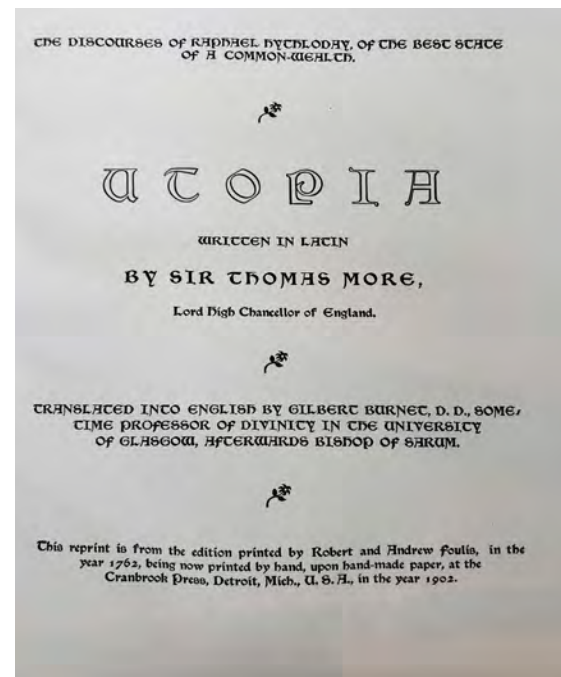

Own a piece of Cranbrook history! This extraordinarily rare Cranbrook Press 1902 First Edition, in excellent condition with uncut pages, was printed by hand upon handmade paper by Cranbrook co-founder George Booth with the assistance of Cecil Billington. 210 numbered copies were printed. This copy is unnumbered and comes in the original box and is wrapped in the original paper. The Utopia text is a reprint from the edition printed by Robert and Andrew Foulis in 1762.

In 1900, four years before purchasing the property that would become the Cranbrook community, George Booth established the Cranbrook Press in the attic of the Detroit Evening News building on Shelby Street in Detroit. Wishing to gratify "a strong desire for work most agreeable to my tastes and inclinations that combined the beautiful with pleasant labor and inspired by the record of ancient printers and the modern endeavors of Wm. Morris," Booth acquired a 2,000-pound Lion Reliance hand press, selected papers and appropriate type-fonts, and hired expert craftspeople to assist him. Between April 1900 and December 1902, the press produced nine books and a portfolio of prints, for which Booth designed many of the intricate borders and colophons and offered written contributions.

The book has been in the collection of George Gough Booth and subsequently Cranbrook since its printing in 1902.

The book will be available for pickup after the auction at Cranbrook House; it may be shipped for an additional fee.

This item has been generously donated by Cranbrook Center for Collections and Research.

Curator-led, Behind-The-Scenes Tour of the Wharton Esherick Museum

MALVERN, PENNSYLVANIA

FOUR GUESTS

JUNE 2021 THROUGH JUNE 2022*

STARTING BID: $500 (WITH $250 BID INCREMENTS)

Just a short drive into Chester County outside of Philadelphia will take you and three guests to one of the most unique and lovingly crafted artists' homes and studios: the Wharton Esherick Museum. Located atop Valley Forge Mountain, your guide for this behind-the-scenes tour will be Emily Zilber, the Museum's Director of Curatorial Affairs and Strategic Partnerships and former Cranbrook Art Museum Collections Fellow and Assistant Curator (2007-2010).

Wharton Esherick was an internationally significant figure in American modern design. His motto, "If it isn't fun, it isn't worth doing," is evident in the joyful expression of his furniture, furnishings, and interiors. Now recognized as a leader of the Studio Furniture Movement, Esherick saw himself as an artist, not a craftsman, and his concern was with form, not technique.

Set on twelve wooded acres, the Museum campus is comprised of multiple buildings including Wharton Esherick's Studio, which is now the centerpiece of the Museum. Esherick's highly individual, hand-built Studio was constructed over a forty-year period beginning in 1926, incorporating Arts and Crafts, Expressionist, and organic designs. Two years later Esherick began his 1928 Expressionist garage, now the Visitor Center. In 1993, the Museum was designated a National Historic Landmark for Architecture.

State of Pennsylvania and Wharton Esherick Museum Covid-19 guidelines for indoor museum spaces will be enforced; guests will be required to wear masks, both indoors and outdoors.

Private Tour and Lunch in the Dining Room of the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Smith House

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP, MICHIGAN

EIGHT GUESTS

SEPTEMBER-OCTOBER 2021 OR MAY-OCTOBER 2022*

STARTING BID: $2,500 (WITH $500 BID INCREMENTS)

Join Center Director Gregory Wittkopp and Associate Curator Kevin Adkisson at the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Smith House for a one-of-a-kind tour of the house and its landscape, and a not-to-be-missed opportunity to have lunch in the Dining Room.

School teachers Sara Stein Smith and Melvyn Maxwell Smith, undeterred by their modest salaries and guided by a shared love of architecture, met Wright at Taliesin in 1941 and commissioned this custom home. The house, completed in 1950, is an excellent example of Wright's Usonian ideal, which aimed to build quality houses for the American middle class. The tour will include an exploration of the recently restored landscape, designed by the mid-century modernist landscape architect Thomas Dolliver Church, and highlights of the Smiths' extensive collection of decorative art, including many works by Cranbrook artists.

As you sit in the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed chairs at the table the architect designed for the Dining Room, you and your guest will enjoy a lunch of Svenska Café's Viking Plate and pastries. Inspired by the amazing coffee culture in Sweden, Svenska Café is an independently owned coffee shop and espresso bar located in the heart of Birmingham, Michigan. Svenska Café's Viking Plate features smoked salmon, shrimp, meatballs, egg, chicken curry salad and beet salad. Vegetarian and gluten-free options are available.

Tour date to be mutually determined by the Center and the auction winner, September through October 2021 or May through October 2022. Because of the intimate nature of the lunch at the Dining Room table, this tour is available to a social "pod" of eight people. State of Michigan and Cranbrook Covid-19 guidelines for indoor museum spaces will be enforced.
